

To whom it may concern: I have been a loyal satellite radio listener since July 2003. When they added traffic and weather reports in march of this year, i was thrilled.

Satellite radio is a luxury, that i am blessed to afford, why are you trying to dictate a service that i,as a consumer, have purchased.

Dont you have better things to do with your time. Like encourage local radio stations to improve their programming and stop playing the same 10 songs over and over again.

How about those intrusive morning radio shows where you have to hear the host and their peanut crew laughing at jokes that arent even funny. You guys have been after Howard Stern for years, and you havent gotten him yet. Do you know why? People love him, thats why.

Personally, I dont care for him or his crude comments. But as an American with choices, I dont listen. Why dont you let the public decide. If you dont like satellite radio, do subscribe.
